AMERICA SCHOOL

AMERICA faces no more momentous problem today than the decision of what is to be done for the youth of today. Eagerly they turn towards the schools and eagerly they reach for society to give the best of its experience; they clamor for the stimuli to be creative and productive; and they joyously and hopefully reach for the torch which they desire to carry higher and brighter. From the Latin Grammar School to the academy to the free high school as we know it today, the story of secondary education is one of constant adaptation to changing needs. The adaptation must be continuous and accelerated if the secondary school is to keep abreast of a social scene changing with increasing rapidity and to play any significant pioneering part at the outpost of human needs.

As our youth turns to the school it is a challenge to give society's best. As young America goes to school so may we shape our destiny; as young America turns from school so shall our destiny lie.

*Dearest Bob,
Beres to you -
Lots of luck - you need it!*

In 1635 the citizens of Boston, then in its second year of existence, met and founded the first free school in America

the School

THE FIRST SCHOOL AND PRESENT ADMINISTRATORS

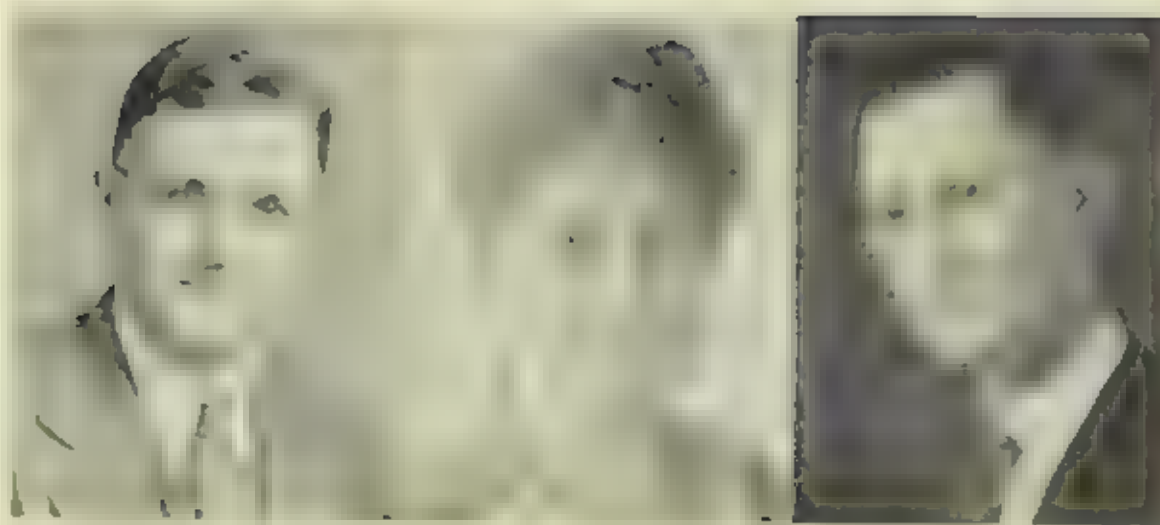

SINE QUA NON of the Englishman namely his home, church and state, assumed their accustomed relationships in the new land of America by developing institutions necessary to promote social and economic progress. On the "13th of the 2d moneth 1635" — the twenty-third of April, by our calendar, five years after the settling of Boston — the citizens of that town voted "that our brother Philemon Pormont, shalbe intreated to become scholemaster for the teaching and nourtering of children with us." August 12, 1636 a subscription was made.

Education

THE art of living consists of finding the place between too little and too much. The truly educated person possesses this balance and never takes himself, anybody or anything else too seriously.

High school education teaches how to live better. The high school of tomorrow may be expected to do its job even more successfully. The colonial schoolmasters included a few scholars for teachers of professional standing but more often they were dissenting clergymen, educated rogues and adventurers. Professional training for teachers began seriously with the academies and later normal classes in the high school. Today the high school teacher must be qualified with at least a regular college career and a minimum number of hours of practice teaching. Technical requirements in some localities are very strict. However, the modern tendency is to place more and more confidence in personal ability in the teacher. Men and women of exceptional independence, intelligence and courage are proving their mettle in high schools. Here may be the place for the future to make its bow, to the past and the present. Good teachers have always been and always will be. Probably no human being who has gone to school any length of time has failed to come under the influence of a teacher who could inspire him to interest and thus to learning. The exceptional teacher of today will be present everywhere tomorrow for the career of teaching will be a privileged one and only the finest talents will be enlisted. Teachers will be councilors and guides who will draw out what is strongest and finest in every student. Teachers of tomorrow will have training based upon a broad cultural base. A real mastery of subject matter will be coupled with a true understanding of objectives and purposes of life and of education as we know it here in America.

Our teaching problem as well as the training of teachers has changed as well. Three hundred years ago only the privileged class attended school. The curriculum was very limited it being only necessary to teach Latin and reading. As late as 1880 only two per cent of the high school population attended schools. From 1910 to 1930 the problem has become radically different. During these years the high school population grew eight times as fast as the rest of the population. In 1932 the percentage has grown to over fifty per cent of the fourteen to seventeen age group. As our whole situation becomes more complex it becomes increasingly hard to deal with its many implications.

But education will be its own best defense. If the future will be as we see it now we will not need to dig deep in old volumes or participate in popular advertising stunts to sell education to the nation. Schools will prove that the educated mind is not a mere creature of its own time. "Education is emancipation from herd opinion, self mastery, capacity for self criticism suspended judgment, and urbanity."

Classes

EARLY SCHOOLMASTERS AND SCHOLARS AND THEIR MODERN COUNTERPART

OLLOQUIES fit for plays were composed by the master written in Latin. In the larger schools the boys were divided into "forms", those in the same class sitting together on one bench. The advance from one form to the next seems to have been made at yearly intervals. There was also a change of position within a class according to the goodness or the badness of the students' recitations. Emulation was freely employed to attract the younger pupils to the position of head of the class. The scholars were drilled upon fundamentals.

Senior Class Message

WITH hesitation we entered the portals of Appleton Senior High School in 1932, it is with reluctance that we leave. Even after pondering over the trials and tribulations of the past three years, we pause in uncertainty before venturing very far from that priceless guidance and protection of our Alma Mater.

The distressing conditions of the near future are constantly being unveiled before our bewildered and distraught eyes. But, fortified with the invaluable advantages of a high school education, we are equipped to face that uncertain future.

We have shown our appreciation of the confidence vested in us by our elders through our accomplishments of the past years. We may well be proud of our distinguished standing. Our class has maintained consistent high scholastic ratings throughout our school years. It has been honorably represented in the various activities of the school. We wish to perpetuate this record to serve as an inspiration for a start toward the goal of achievement for our followers.

only the preludes of our various careers in this world. There are many steps to be taken before our ambitions are realized.

will never guide us through this precarious world. If we lean upon them but once, they become an encumbrance immediately. Our qualifications for the future are judged more by what we do when we get there than by what we have done in the past.

Now, as the most glorious days of our lives are left behind us, never to be relived, we wish to leave a few parting words of advice with our successors. Be careful, lest you be led astray too easily by the misleading words of laudation with which your efforts of today are commended. Tomorrow you will be no more able to be supported by praise than now. Reap the benefits of an education while it is possible. Knowledge is the one thing that can be neither stolen nor lost during a lifetime.

Junior Class Message

IN THEIR second year at Appleton High School, the class of '36 has shown that they have been able to co-operate with the other classes and do their part in maintaining the high standard of the school.

Throughout the year the juniors have taken an active part in all school activities. The junior class has proved its scholastic ability by placing more pupils on the honor rolls than the other classes.

Some students of this class have shown excellence in the oratory, debate, and extemporaneous contests. The Talisman and Clarion staffs as well as the band, orchestra, and chorus have been well represented by members of the junior class.

Both the boys and the girls have been prominent in school athletics. Five boys were awarded letters in football and two were awarded letters in basketball. The junior boys were the nucleus of the track squad. In the intra-mural sports, volleyball, basketball, baseball, and boxing a creditable showing was made. The boys were especially outstanding in boxing. The girls have also been very active in their intra-mural sports, having participated in baseball, volleyball and basketball.

Each year a number of one-act plays are given by the junior class members. This year three plays were presented before the entire school. Much hidden talent was discovered among the participants.

The class has shown school spirit by their fine attendance of all social activities and school contests. One example of this spirit was shown by the large attendance at the annual class party. The party was very colorful, being decorated in the beautiful Japanese motif. As one entered the building, he was met by smiling girls, dressed in picturesque Oriental costumes, who welcomed him in the traditional Japanese fashion. Pleasing music was furnished by Vern Vincent's Orchestra.

Thanks should be given to the class sponsors and the Talisman and Clarion staffs for their help in making this year successful.

IN THE fall of 1934 a new sophomore class entered the doors of Appleton High School with eager anticipation. Once more it exceeds in number any preceding class. Included in this class of new students were found pupils of exceptional ability and initiative.

Although unfamiliar with the form of student government practiced in this school, the new class has learned fast and has ably fulfilled all its duties. It has participated in most school activities and was recognized for its work.

The class party, which was given in the early part of December, was stated by all as being a great success. The hall was decorated in Japanese fashion, though no one came in costume. A program was presented and dancing furnished the entertainment.

The sophomores did splendid work and are expected to prove their exceptional prowess during the coming years. The class was well represented in football, basketball, track, golf, and tennis. Only one game was lost by the second basketball team which was composed entirely of sophomores. There were also many sophomores admitted to the Talisman and Clarion staffs, and they have shown ability to co-operate with other people.

The class took part in other activities and rose to challenge those with more experience. Sophomores participated in the oratory finals, in debate teams, and in extemporaneous contests. The new students also entered the different musical organizations to find themselves among the best of them.

But much of the credit must fall to those who did the work behind the scenes, to those who did so much to make all our undertakings successful. The sponsors of the class proved to be never-failing to pupils in all their requests. They assisted on the endless number of committees which helped to make things go smoothly and well. To the teachers who so willingly and helpfully received this new class, the sophomores extend their appreciation. We hope that in our remaining two years, we will be able to work together as well as we have this year.

Cabinets

EVERY class at Appleton High School has its own cabinet, an organization composed of class officers, sponsors, and council members. From the class cabinet is made the Student Council which is the governing body of the school. One or two cabinet members are chosen from all the home rooms.

The cabinet members conduct balloting in the home rooms. They also select those candidates for class offices which they deem responsible. Much of the success of class parties is due to the class cabinet and its presiding officer.

This group strives to encourage class democracy among the high school students and in all of the clubs. With the ever increasing enrollment the problems facing the class government increase. It is the class cabinet which assumes responsibility for their remedy.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES ... THEN AND NOW

ALLOWING the best boys to go out into the open and cultivate the school master's garden was quite a mark of distinction. The boys were allowed to laugh and sing as much as they pleased while they tilled. Another school honor was that of sawing the wood of the master and bottling his cider. Wherever possible the pupils were taught while playing, such as when the instructor would read Latin while the boys were fishing. However they often "passed their time pleasantly in telling funny stories and laughing very loudly."

Flag Raisers

Each year the seniors select one of its most outstanding students for the honor of being flag raisers. From the many worthy of this honor and responsibility, the seniors this year chose Priscilla Richard and Anthony Vandenberg for their outstanding scholarship, character, leadership, and service.

The choice of flag raiser is based upon the composite qualities of the individual. It is not a recognition of excellence in one field, but in many. Those seniors selected for this honor can be justly proud of it for it is a recognition of their ability. The raising of the flag is a responsibility which must be given to trustworthy students. The two people who were chosen by the senior student body this year maintained interest in their positions and fulfilled the trust put in them.

Each year the custom has been to select a boy and a girl for this duty.

Throughout their high school career both Priscilla and Anthony have been outstanding in extra-curricular activities. Priscilla is a member of Girl Reserves and the Masque and Book Club. She is also managing editor of the Talisman and the secretary-treasurer of Quill and Scroll Society. Anthony is an outstanding member of the high school band besides holding the office of vice-president in Der Deutsche Verein, the German Club, and being a member of the Masque and Book Club. He is also a member of the ABC Hi-Y.

To the class of 1936 is left this age-old tradition. May they value and respect its significance and keep this office a glory to be passed on to future classes.

JOHN FRANK

Craftsmanship Shield

The Craftsmanship Shield is awarded a graduating senior who in the minds of the judges excels in scholarship, service, and character, this year was given to John Frank. John certainly deserves the recognition he has gained, for besides ranking very high scholastically, he has taken part in most of the school activities. He has been in the Student Council for three years, and this year was the president, he was sophomore and junior class vice-president. He won both the oratory and extemporaneous contests as both a sophomore and junior. In the latter contest, he placed first in the Fox River Valley competition. He served on the Talisman through which he gained membership to the Quill and Scroll of which he was president in his senior year. One could go on almost indefinitely naming all his achievements. Every teacher and student with whom he worked will verify the statement that John's character is of the highest type.

American Legion Award

A record, Robert Thoms has been given the American Legion Award this year

Robert has served on the basketball and track teams, and in his senior year captained the latter group. He served on championship basketball teams in both his junior and senior years. As a senior he was one of the outstanding men on the team and was chosen as a guard on the second all-conference team. He has seen service on the track squad in each of his three years. In his sophomore and junior years, he ran the mile, while this year he ran the half-mile.

Besides being prominent in athletics, Robert has kept his grades high and has been active in other activities. He was president of his sophomore and junior classes. He was in the band all three of his years at high school. He also was in the German Club, Senior Vaudeville, and the ABC Hi-Y.

National Honor Society

IN 1928 Appleton High School installed a chapter of the National Honor Society. Members for this society are chosen each year from the senior class by a vote of the faculty on the basis of scholarship, character, leadership, and service.

Objects of the National Honor Society are to create enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character in pupils.

The keystone and torch, symbolic of high ideals and truth, are the emblems of the society. Election to this organization is one of the highest honors a student can attain.

Quill and Scroll

AGAIN Appleton High School's chapter of Quill and Scroll has proved itself active in promoting journalistic activities. To be awarded membership into this honorary society for high school journalists, one must excel in editorial or business work on the Talisman or Clarion staffs.

Officers this year are: John Frank, president, Bill Spector, vice-president, and Priscilla Richard, secretary-treasurer.

This year two new faculty advisors were added. They are Miss Margaret Abraham and Mrs. Everett Kircher. Many thanks are due the faculty advisors and Miss Borghild Andersen, the Quill and Scroll sponsor, for the interest and co-operation shown.

Student Council

THE Student Council has always been the student voice in the government of Appleton High School. Its aims are: to promote school spirit, to help maintain order among the student body, to assist in outside activities, and to represent the individual home rooms. This year the council was made up of two representatives from a single home room totaling sixty-eight members during the year 1934-1935. This system was adopted so that the council member would be aided by an assistant in his activities of distributing the Talisman, checking in the finance dues, and passing out tickets to lyceums, games, and other activities. The assistant also substitutes in the other's absence.

Madison Delegation

THE Madison journalistic convention was attended by seven representatives of Appleton High School. The five official delegates were: Reva Cohen, Dan Murphy, Clark Nixon, Rosemary Ritten, and Priscilla Richard. Henry Johnson, Robert Moser, and Ruth Cohen, chaperon, also were numbered in the delegation. They attended general assemblies, the annual banquet, and round table sessions. Newspaper and annual staffs from various districts sent their representatives as speakers for the various lectures. Both the Talisman and the Clarion received the judges' highest commendation and praise.

The delegates returned home with new ideas from their association with members of publication staffs from all over the state.

Clarion

ALTHOUGH conditions for having a Clarion did not seem so favorable at the beginning of the year, it was finally decided to have an annual. The book has been on trial, but it has come out more successfully than was planned or hoped for.

The theme for the Clarion this year has been the commemoration of the three hundredth anniversary of the public school in America. A comparison has been made throughout the book of the oldest public school and the modern school of today.

This year the editorship of the Clarion was shared by two people, Reva Cohen and Sydney Jacobson. Mr. Everett Kircher was the editorial sponsor for the first half of the year and Mrs. Kircher continued the supervision for the second semester because of Mr. Kircher's leaving to go to Madison for continued study.

The business staff did its work very well this year. They sold many more sponsorships this year than last year. Clark Nixon was the financial manager and Dan Murphy, the business manager. Miss Esther Graef was the business sponsor.

Talisman

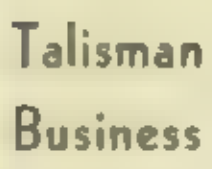

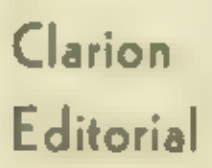

THE success of the ten years' existence of the official weekly school publication, the Talisman, has proved it to be one of the most valuable of extra-curricular activities of the school. The Talisman acts as a voice of the student body and it gives a complete and permanent record of all school events.

There are many interesting departments in the paper which include news items, feature stories, and editorials which relate to school life. Rosemary Ritten was editor-in-chief and Priscilla Richard the managing editor for this year. Miss Borghild Anderson, editorial sponsor, conducted weekly journalism classes for her staff.

The successful work of the business staff has been accomplished under the direction of Miss Margaret Abraham, the sponsor, Robert McNish, the business manager, and Dan Murphy, the advertising manager. This year the staff has been more successful in obtaining advertisements than in previous years.

Through the efforts of both the editorial and business staffs, an eight page Christmas issue was successfully published.

Girl Reserve

APPLETON HIGH SCHOOL has been fortunate in having a chapter of the National Girl Reserves for the past five years. The club has a limited membership of forty girls because meetings are held in private homes. These meetings are held once every week. Every first and third Tuesday of the month an evening meeting is held in a private home, and every second and fourth Wednesday a business meeting is held at school. The aims of the organization are to develop the better qualities in girls and to be of service to the school and community.

The year's activities consisted of an alumni picnic at the Younger cottage on Lake Winnebago, the initiation banquet held at the Hearthstone, a Halloween party given for the children of the Orthopedic Hospital, a program at the Riverview Sanitarium for the patients, and a Mother and Daughter party held at the Schmidt's residence. Needy girls in school were given aid at Christmas time.

Private meetings were devoted to travel and literature talks and character discussions. Speakers and their subjects were Miss Annette Buchanan, Alaska; Miss Mary Carrier, Mexico; Miss Minne Smith, Europe; Mrs. Edwin L. Losby, Best Books of the Year; and Mr. John Yonan, Persia.

The three sponsors of the tri-square are Miss Mary Baker, Miss Adela Klumb, and Mrs. Werner Witte. The officers for the term of 1934-35 were Peggy Jennings, president; Geraldine Schmidt, vice-president; Mary Lou Fannon, secretary; and Olive VandeWalle, treasurer.

The Masque and Book Club

THE Masque and Book Club, organized under the supervision and direction of its faculty sponsor, Miss Alice Petersen, has retained its place as one of the outstanding school clubs.

The purpose of the club is to create a stimulus to literary endeavor, to encourage amateur theatricals, to become better informed about lives of favorite authors, and to form reading habits and tastes for the best literature.

This year's activities of the Masque and Book Club were most beneficial and enjoyable for its members. Mr. Edward Rose, a former director and playwright, spoke at two meetings. He discussed and illustrated the importance of pantomime in learning to act. Three one-act plays were selected, cast, and directed by the students which gave them a knowledge of costuming and make-up as well as acting and directing. The afternoon on which a theater party attended the motion picture, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," was one not to be forgotten.

The books which the club bought this year were: "The Best Plays of 1933-34" by Burns Mantle, "Lamb in His Bosom" by Caroline Miller, "42 Years in the White House" by Irvin Hoover, and "The Emperor's Stallion" by Princess Marie.

This year's officers of the Masque and Book Club are: Peggy Jennings, president; Robert McNiesh, vice-president; Olive VandeWalle, recording secretary; Rosemary Ritten, corresponding secretary; and Geraldine Schmidt, treasurer. Their fine co-operation made the club a success.

The Library Staff

THE student Library Staff is made up of seven seniors who are chosen by Miss Ruth Mielke, librarian. Grades, adaptability, dependability, leadership, and a spirit of loyalty shown in the students' general attitude toward the library are factors which enter into the selection.

Each member is assigned to a definite period of the day. He has charge of the circulation desk, this includes the duties of charging books, slipping returned books, counting and recording circulation, filing book cards, delivering fine and overdue notices, and helping students find books.

Although the staff members do not become familiar with the more technical functions of a library, they acquire a general knowledge and appreciation of the organization of a library.

Staff meetings are held every other week on Thursdays. Problems that various members experience are discussed and difficulties straightened out. Besides this, student staff members become acquainted with other phases of library work.

Staff members for the year 1934-35 were Mary Louise Barta, Thomas Catlin, Mary Jane Mader, Chris Retson, Geraldine Schmidt, Edwin Shannon, and Hope Wells. Ted Brunke was chosen this year to read shelves each night after school. This tedious duty involved seeing that books are in their correct places on the shelves.

Much appreciation goes to these workers from the faculty and the student body for their valuable service to the school.

G. A. A.

UNDER excellent leaders and sponsors the Girls' Athletic Association enjoyed a very successful year. The membership was larger than some previous years and the projects that were undertaken turned out very well.

The purpose of the G. A. A. is threefold (1) to promote participation in intra-murals for girls, (2) to support all school athletics by interest and enthusiasm, and (3) to make the association a power for good clean living among all the girls of the school.

Two initiations were held during the year, one in November at the school, and the other was a banquet in May. Awards were also given out at the banquet to the girls who had earned them for completing certain point requirements.

Thanksgiving baskets were distributed to eighty-five needy people. A candy and sandwich sale was held in the hall and candy was sold at the football and basketball games.

In February the G. A. A. sponsored a matinee dance in the gymnasium after school with Vern Vincent's orchestra furnishing the music. The dance was enjoyed very much by the students and proved to be very profitable to the organization.

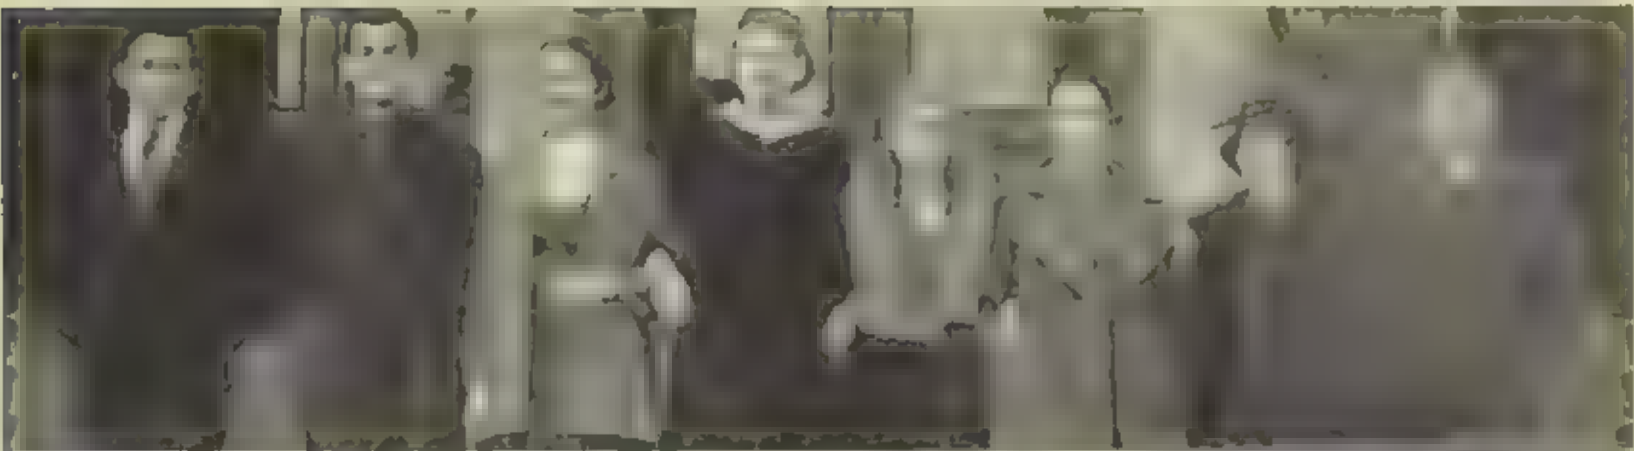

The officers for this year were Bonnie Morris, president; Mary Jane Van Ryzin, vice-president; Jean Lewis, treasurer; and Victoria Steckleberg, secretary. The club sponsors were Miss Ardella Anderson, Miss Mary Carrer, and Miss Lenore May, who is at the head of the organization.

German Club

THIS year the German Club completed its fourth successful year. The club, under the guidance of Miss Sophia Haase, faculty sponsor and German instructor, has done much to increase the interest of its members in the German language through the study of German customs and manners.

Meetings are held every other Monday. Second year students are eligible, first year students earn admittance only through their excellent work in German. Business is discussed, and varied and interesting programs are given at the meetings.

The activities of the club this year included the presentation of German plays worked out in German dialogue, the singing of carols in school corridors at Christmas time, a sleigh ride party, a typical German banquet, and a farewell picnic in honor of the seniors.

The officers of the German Club of 1934 and 1935 are Kenneth Sager, president and honor member of the club; Anthony Vandenberg, vice-president; Mary Voecks, secretary; Lawrence Blum, treasurer.

French Club

THE French Club was organized this year for all French students by Miss Minnie Smith, French instructor. The purpose is to enable the students to become familiar with French customs and affairs for which the regular class time is not sufficient.

En Avant, a French byword, is the name chosen for the organization; fleur de lis, national flower of France, the symbol.

Social meetings are held once a month in a private home. Members put on several short French plays, French games are played and songs sung; and special reports are given on customs of the French, noted French people, and conditions in the country. Dr. Louis Baker and Mr. Alfred Galpin talked to the club on their experiences during their stay in France.

At Christmas time French greeting cards made by the members, were exchanged and toys were given to the poor.

Officers for En Avant, 1934-35, were Annabelle Wolf, president; Betty Younger, vice-president; Ruth Barnes, secretary; Gordon Heideman, treasurer.

AFTER a lapse of several years, a varsity debate team was again organized this year under the direction of the sponsor, Miss Carrier. The group conducted several non-decision debates. Betty Younger was debate manager and acted as chairman at all the home debates.

Besides the varsity debate there was also the regular club, in which methods and pointers were explained to all those interested.

The question debated was whether the federal government should give grants to the states to equalize the educational advantages.

THE winner of the Bolton-Roth extemporaneous contest for this year was William Spector. He spoke on America and the Next War. William placed third in the Fox River Valley contest which was held in Appleton. His talk was Hitler and the World.

The other contestants who appeared in the local contest were Lawrence Blum, Howard Kruse, Gerald Libman, and Chris Retson. The speakers were given an hour to prepare their topics and could speak no longer than seven minutes.

Mr. Marcus Plant coached the contestants.

WILLIAM SPECTOR won the fourteenth annual Heiss Memorial Oratorical Contest and placed third in the Fox River Valley contest this year. His oration was "Crime—The Challenge to Youth."

Because of the close competition, six speakers participated in the local contest; they were: Kenneth Sager, Lawrence Blum, Robert Moser, Tom Marling, William Mehring, and William Spector. The judges were the Professors Crow, Cloak, and Trevor.

Mr. Leonard Sprague coached the speakers.

THE yearly declamatory contest which is sponsored by George Dame was won this year by Jane Bernhardt. Her declamation was "The High Heart." The others who participated in the contest were Agatha Schmiat, Ellen Driscoll, Annette Post, and Alice Jane DeLong.

A new plan was adopted this year which gave more girls a chance to compete in a runner-up contest. Those who competed in this were Dorothy Banister, Dorothy Ward, JoAnn Konrad, and Betty White.

The coach again this year was Miss Ruth McKennan.

Dramatics

UNDER the supervision of Miss Ruth McKennan, student coaches directed acts for the annual Senior Vaudeville. These acts, seventeen in number, presented a variety entertainment. Tap dances, melodramas, radio programs, skits, classical dancing, and songs—all these features were included in this program.

THIS year the class of 1935 presented "New Fires" as the annual senior play. A cast of fifteen composed the dramatis personae. John Frank and Peggy Jennings had the leading roles. The action took place on a farm in the Ozark region of Missouri and revolved around the Santry family. The farm atmosphere, setting, and characters all vividly portrayed the scene of action. The author of the play, Charlie Quimby Burdette, attended the performance and commented favorably on both the direction and acting. Again Miss Ruth McKennan coached this successful performance.

TWO one-act plays, "The Lost Princess" and "Circumstances," were given before the assembly by the Junior Play group. The scene of "The Lost Princess" took us into the highlands of China. William Mehring played the leading role in "Circumstances," a story centering around a city shop. Miss Ruth McKennan coached these plays.

LEDED by Mr. Ernest Moore, the Appleton High School band has become an institution of which the students of our school are justly proud. The musical ability of the musicians in the band has been definitely proved by the number of "firsts" that they have won in district and state competition. To finance their trips to the contests, the band and orchestra participated jointly in a benefit concert in conjunction with one of the local theaters.

MUCH has been done to further the enjoyment of good music in this city by the orchestra under the direction of Mr. Jay I. Williams, himself a talented musician. Probably the busiest musical organization in our high school, it has played before many clubs and schools through

A string up of select members of the orchestra has done much to popularize instrumental music in the city.

AFTER two years under the direction of Mr. Glockzin, the Appleton High School Chorus has acquired a marked proficiency in the singing of hymns, an innovation that came with Mr. Glockzin last year. Their repertoire has been broadened so that a program of great variety has been presented before several audiences in this city. The chorus presented their benefit concert with a supplement of folk dances. These were under the direction of Miss Lenore May. A new feature that met with great success was the boys' octette.

THE Rockne Hi-Y, this year's addition of last year's Rockne Sophomore Triangle, has completed a profitable year in the manner of their predecessors. Mr. C. C. Bailey was their leader. Officers of this year are: president, Rossmessl, vice-president, Mortell; secretary, Crabb, treasurer, Frieders; sergeant-at-arms, Campbell.

THE Century Hi-Y, a continuation of the Hi-Y which bore the same name last year, was forced by the irregularity of their meetings to form a coalition with the Badger Hi-Y, who found themselves in the same plight. The last president of the Centuries was Don Blazer.

THE Spartan Hi-Y sponsored a hobby show this year. They also adopted a very apparent badge. Their leader this year was Mr. Peter Giovannini. Officers are: president, Hoepfner, vice-president, Dunford, secretary-treasurer, Brewer; sergeant-at-arms, Brucks.

THE STORY OF SPORTS PAST AND PRESENT

ALMOST all of the good boy-hours in the whole year were passed in the schoolroom under the eye of the master. The main hope for anything like good boy time's was in playing hookey or playing in school. In the few hours that could be given to out-door sports they had skating and coasting in the winter, and a variety of games in summer including swimming, some with ball and bat, remote forerunners of baseball. Great attention was put on physical exercise such as wrestling, running, and leaping. Twelve play days only were allowed each year to every pupil.

Basketball

FOR the fifth consecutive time, Coach J. Shield's varsity basketball squad took first honors in the Fox River Valley Conference. The Appleton team, however, held the pennant jointly with East Green Bay. Both teams lost but two conference games.

The Terrors started this season with wins over Shawano and New London thus establishing a record of twenty-two straight victories. The twenty-third consecutive victory was not attained, however, because the Shieldsmen bowed to the St. Mary's (Menasha) cagers in the second game of the season.

Thirteen wins and four defeats were the results of the Terror's efforts throughout the entire season. Sheboygan carried away the honors for Appleton's second defeat in three years. The score was 27 to 26.

The Appleton High basketekers played seven non-conference matches, five of which they won. In a return game with St. Mary's the Terrors won by a 30 to 15 score.

Football

COACH WALLACE COLE, Appleton High's new football coach, successor of Coach Joseph Shields, started the season with thirteen lettermen and about seventy-five inexperienced boys under his influence. This year, however, the squad did not get started until their fifth game in which they copped from East Green Bay by a 13-7 score.

Sheboygan, who defeated Appleton in the second game of the season 28-0, won first place in the Valley Conference. Appleton won twice, lost three times, and tied once in the conference, and received a third in the standings. Non-conference games with St. Mary's (Menasha), Neenah, and Kaukauna were lost, won, and tied, respectively.

This year's team was led by Co-captains Zimmerman and Hildebrandt who gave a very fine exhibition at end and fullback, respectively. Donald Green, 140 pound guard on the Orange squad, played exceptionally fine football during the year; and therefore he was chosen for a

This year the Orange was led by Captain Clem Rankin. Rankin was an all-conference forward last year and the all-conference center this year. Bob Thoms with Rankin were the only returning lettermen. Thoms was chosen as a second string guard on the all-conference team. Despite the fact that it was his first season with the varsity, Lillge finished second among the Valley individual scorers and was placed on the Valley team at the forward berth.

The work of Assistant Coach Myrlon Seims proved to be very effectual. He assisted Coach Shields in teaching the varsity and coached the seconds through a successful season.

The seconds displayed a great quantity of talent during the season which may prove to be a great help to next year's varsity squad. It is hoped that the 1936 team will be as successful as its predecessor.

guard position on the all-conference eleven. The final game of the season was played on November 10, at Kaukauna. Appleton used this as their "Booster Day" game; this proved to be a success despite the unfavorable weather which prevailed on the day. A very ornate parade was held at Appleton in the morning, and on the afternoon many Appleton fans went to the electric city to see the game. Although Kaukauna was very confident, the Terrors held them, and the game ended with the score at seven all.

The annual banquet was held December 6, at which twenty-three boys and a manager were given letters. Only six will return next fall. Leonard Brasch was elected captain of the 1935-36 gridders.

Coach Cole was aided in his work by Mr. Myrlon Seims, Mr. Leland Delforge, and Mr. Kenneth Laird.

Girls' athletics were supported with very great enthusiasm this year. An unusual number of the upperclass women showed continued interest in girls' athletic activities.

Approximately one hundred and fifty girls participated in the intra-mural tournaments this year. The tournaments are held annually. This year basketball, volleyball, and kickball tournaments were held. Because the weather conditions too often proved unfavorable, the girls' gym classes have excluded these sports from their activities. This was substituted for by kickball.

Under the excellent direction of Mr. [unclear], physical education director, the girls were able to represent the various classes. The winning kickball and volleyball team was led by Elaine Buesing; the basketball, by Bonnie Morris.

Janitors

THE students and faculty of Appleton High School are very fortunate in having such a fine janitor force. The janitors and janitress are always willing to give anyone aid, and many times have taken hard tasks upon themselves to do things for the students. It is they who are responsible for keeping our somewhat depleted building in fit condition
